Partial week. Monday and Tuesday only — Wednesday to Friday not yet supplied. Figures cover the trades shown only and will be restated when the week is complete.

How to read this. Every XAUUSD signal closed during the period is listed once, in order — losses included, nothing omitted. This week is taken directly from the trading account statement: R is measured as the distance the price moved divided by the distance to the stop loss on that order, so it is exact rather than a target-number convention. A signal closed in two positions appears as two rows. Win rate is signals closed in profit divided by signals closed in profit or at a loss; breakevens are listed but not counted either way. Pips are quoted the way the desk quotes them (0.10 in the gold price = 1 pip). Position sizing is each trader's own, so results are reported in R rather than currency.

Trading XAUUSD carries a high level of risk and may not be suitable for all investors. Past results do not guarantee future performance. This report is a record of signals published to the channel, not a statement of any individual's returns.
